Good afternoon,

Thank you for your reply.

Regarding a more detailed description - this is not available, except for USG exam results and blood tests. The USG was taken around the time that this sudden change in how my body (urogenital) looked and functioned happened; the USG showed close to 1 liter of urine retention; genital area significantly changed; I felt pain coming from inside that area ever since then. As far as I know, this can be described as genital trauma, the cause of which will be investigated, but a very comprehensive diagnosis is what's needed in the first place, hence my inquiry.

I'll be awaiting specifics you mentioned (offer and details) then.

Regards,

Dear Sirs,

I'm a 36 year old male, looking for a well-equipped male urology-andrology specialist clinic to conduct any necessary tests/diagnostics and receive a comprehensive diagnosis of my urogenital health condition. I found your offer via <http://www.whatclinic.com/urology/czech-republic>

Exactly which tests will be necessary would be determined on site by a specialist from your clinic, but I would like to choose where most or preferably all of the following can be taken care of, i.e.:

- urogenital (incl. penile) duplex doppler ultrasonography
- urogenital magnetic resonance imaging
- cavernosography
- cavernosometry
- penile arteriography
- penile nerve conduction testing
- semen analysis
- hormone analysis
- blood tests

Onsite urologist, andrologist, as well as english versions of all results is very important. Endocrinologist to consult hormone level related matters would be preferable.

Kindly please let me know whether your clinic can be of help with the above. If so, what is the approximate cost (tests & consultation cost) and nearest availability.

Thank you very much,
